"Ed and Jennifer have worked with myself and Pompano Dive Center on multiple occasions. Each time we spoke they both had clear focus and sound ideas to benefit all involved. In meeting with them, we found them to be punctual, professional, and most importantly-they listened to our needs and what we are looking for. Numerous ideas were implemented after agreeing on what we both expected from the experiences, and expectations were met or exceeded on all counts."

— Tony Ernst, General Manager, Pompano Dive Center

"Wow! I should hire you two for my marketing! I like your approach, and all your ideas! This is more than we expected!"

— Lakmali Abeynayake, Owner, Mahagedara Retreat

"Thanks so much for the wonderful coverage of Panama City Beach on your Coleman Concierge blog. We love the images and content and the PCB team agrees!"

— Charlotte Park, Account Supervisor, Lou Hammond Group

"Jenn and Ed are dedicated and valued members of the Impact Travel Alliance Media Network. Jenn participated in a recent Visit Norway + Norwegian air press trip campaign and truly delivered with her beautiful photos and thoughtful content across their website and social media platforms - even while fighting an illness. True professionalism! Coleman Concierge is a great value for brands looking for influencers with an engaged and growing travel audience."

— Meghan Aftosmis, Impact Travel Alliance sr. PR and Media Network Lead

"I am flying from India to Sri Lanka tonight and I am so excited! This post has made me so happy, I am hoping to visit Kaudulla National Park and have been researching ecotourism rather than the horrible ways the elephants can be treated. I love this post and will be sharing it with everyone I am going with."

— Ambini

"Honestly this whole post is SUCH a good tip. I was looking at visiting Key West earlier this year, and was planning to fly into Miami/Ft Lauderdale, but I was just stunned at how expensive the hotels in Key West are! It was unreal. I've been to Key West before on a cruise excursion anyway, so it might be nice to stay in Islamorada and see somewhere new, and do another day trip to Key West. Awesome advice guys, that I will definitely be taking into consideration for my 2019 travel planning."

— Sarah

"This is such a great article! No, I had no idea that Fort Lauderdale was a good place to dive. We live so close. My husband and daughter (once the baby comes) are eager to get back into diving, as well as my son-in-law. The Sea Emperor is anew on on me. That looks really interesting but your turtle picture is the one that made me ooh and aah. ;)"

— Melody

"What a wonderful informative post! We have always wanted to go to Thailand but haven't been able to yet. We are DEFINITELY looking up Elephant Hills when we go! I am a hiker and a camper and this looks like it would be exactly my cup of tea. It is really important to support organizations that give directly back to the community and act in an ethical manner. Thanks for sharing this! It was a fantastic read!"

— Aaron

"THANK YOU for introducing me to Zion Guro. I've seen their storefront, but never went inside. Seems we need a little guru'ing to help us on our next trip. We've been twice and weather, rock slides, etc. have prevented us from seeing the best parts. My hubby wants to do the Subway, I do not, but I could send him off with ZG and feel confident that he would be safe. But there are other areas I'd like to see and it's always awesome to have a good guide. Southern Utah is in our backyard and we fell hard for it on our RV trip so we will be back very soon!"
